

MLB All Star MVP Prince Fielder latest addition to the European Big League Tour

Prince Fielder (Milwaukee Brewers) is the most remarkable addition to the list of Major League Baseball players, who will give clinics in Amsterdam and Utrecht (The Netherlands), Prague (Czech Republic) and Parma (Italy) as part of the European Big League Tour (EBLT). The First baseman was named Most Valuable Player of the American MLB All Star Game last July. Fielder is visiting Europe from November 3rd through November 13th, together with six other active MLB baseball-professionals.

Fielder is currently playing with the Milwaukee Brewers to try to reach the World Series. The Brewers are leading over the Arizona Diamondbacks with 2-1 in the 'best-of-five' series. Fielder is a homerun specialist and has the clubrecord for most homeruns in one season. He is also the youngest player in MLB history who has hit over 50 homeruns. In 2009 Fielder has won the Home Run Derby during the MLB All Star Weekend.

The European Big League Tour is an initiative of Dutch baseball professional Rick VandenHurk. Besides Fielder and VandenHurk also Dutch native Roger Bernadina (Washington Nationals), Mike Stanton (Florida Marlins), Dexter Fowler (Colorado Rockies), Francisco Cervelli (New York Yankees) and Adam Jones (Baltimore Orioles) will be present at the clinics.

Opening Day for the 2011 European Big League Tour will be Friday November 4. The event will commence with a VIP Dinner and auction at the Barbizon Palace, Amsterdam, with all proceeds benefitting the Ronald McDonald Foundation.

European Big League Tour.

The European Big League Tour was founded by Major League pitcher and native Dutchman, Rick VandenHurk (Baltimore Orioles), and has been supported by MLB and MLBPA. It was established to promote the game of baseball throughout Europe, stimulate baseball's return to the Olympics, support the many Baseball Academies in the region and bring the dream (that turned into a reality for Rick) closer to the aspiring youth baseball players throughout Europe.
